1) Z: normally this section occurs twice, after H2 and H3, but here it occurs unexpectedly after M as well. One may consider this the result of the same material having two functions: as Z after H2 and H3, and also simply as the final subsection of M (=M c), for since the finalis of geveş, Bd, is found not in M b but in Z, Z should presumably also appear at the end of M each time it recurs.
