I.Hane

The image shows a musical score for a single instrument, likely a treble clef instrument like a flute or recorder. The score is composed of ten staves of music, each starting with a clef (Treble), a key signature of two sharps (A major), a tempo of 120 BPM, and a common time (indicated by a '4'). The music consists entirely of eighth-note patterns. The first five staves feature straight eighth-note patterns. The next three staves introduce grace notes, specifically sixteenth-note pairs. The final two staves return to straight eighth-note patterns. The music is presented on a white background with black musical notation.
